Campaign to hit climax at election

Linton selects 17 for staff of Radio KWOU

KWOU is now ready for the airways. A new staff of 17 announcers, writers and directors was selected Thursday to manage the campus radio station. The station is scheduled to go on the air late this month.

Bruce Linton, faculty advisor for the station, announced the selections. Ben Butler will be program director, Tom Burke will direct writing of continuity and Irvin Jones will be music director.

Four announcers

Four students will handle the microphone duties. They are Dick Palmquist, Bonnie Burgess, Cliff Souhier and George King. Writing continuity will be Ann McConey, Georgia Lee Redfield, Charlotte Weinberg and Gary Anderson.

Serving as music librarians will be Bob Erickson and Harold Winslow, while Jack Katz will be in charge of news and special events. Bill Ashley will join the two founders of KWOU in handling the engineering chores. The founders, Robert Stratbucker and Stan Davidson, built the transmitter which the station will use.

Twice weekly

These new staff members were selected after tryouts last Wednesday and Thursday. Their voices and copy will be heard over speakers in the student lounge, Student Center and faculty clubroom.

They will be on the air from 11 a. m. to 3 p. m. two days each week. The major portion of the programs will be musical, but plans for a sports program are under consideration.

The station was first used experimentally last spring. It is what is called a "wireless" type of station, and will be heard on campus over 550 kilocycles.

Doane is Friday Migration foe

OU's football minded students needn't stay at home and fret when the Indians meet the Doane College Tigers Friday night at Crete, Nebr.

Because Friday is Migration Day.

That word comes from Nancy Will, president of Feathers, women's pep organization. Miss Will says that once again the Feathers are sponsoring the annual event.

According to her, all students wishing to attend the game in a body may do so by buying their bus tickets at the ticket window in the lower hall. Ticket sales started yesterday and will continue until Friday.

As yet, no information has been received regarding the sale of game tickets.

Flu inoculations will end Friday afternoon

Influenza shots will be administered in the student health office today through Friday.

Appointments for the shots, may be made in the business office. The fee of $1 was due last Friday, but may still be paid.

Many students have already registered, according to Beldora Tacke, school nurse.

Debate group probes prices

Omaha U's debaters will play host to three other schools in a practice debate session Friday from 2 to 5 p. m.

The debaters from Midland, Doane and Creighton will join OU in the meeting. William Bogatz, an official of the Omaha Office of Price Stabilization, and OU Prof. Roderic Crane will be the guest speakers.

The speakers and debaters will discuss the pros and cons of a permanent price control law. Then Omaha U debaters Duane Post and Jim Klein will meet a team from one of the other schools in a practice debate. All students are invited to be the guests of the debate group at the meeting.

Thursday evening the OU debate group will meet in room 100 for a similar discussion of the topic. OU instructor Phil Allen and former instructor Capt. J. Lee Westrate will be guest speakers.

Sen. Brewster will address first World Affairs Institute of year

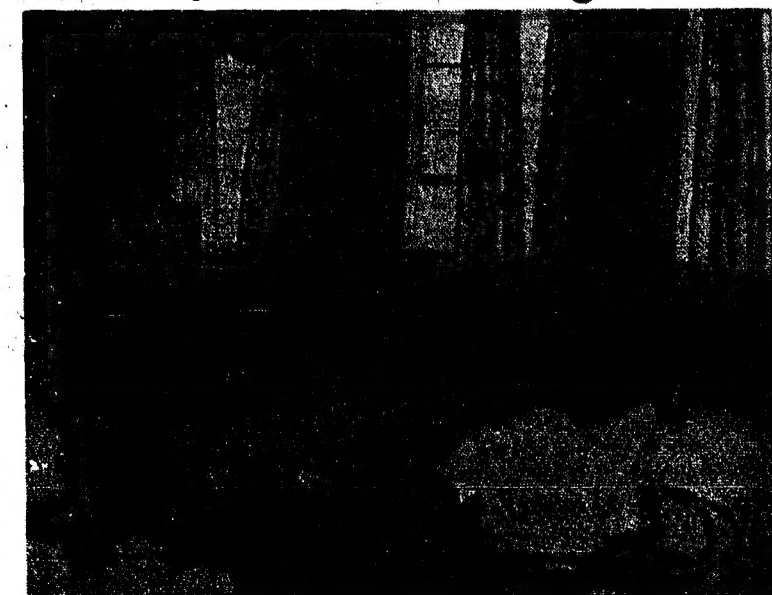

Sen. Owen Brewster of Maine is scheduled to address the first session of the Institute of World Affairs tomorrow evening. The senior Republican senator from that state, he will point out how "America Comes of Age."

Tomorrow is last day to sign for frosh show

All freshmen interested in being the Freshman Talent Show must register in the Dean of Students office by tomorrow afternoon.

This will be the first frosh show since 1946.

KMTV, OU alum bring Series to students

World Series fans take advantage of TV set donated by television station KMTV.

One of Omaha's local television stations has done more than its share to bring the World Series to OU's students.

All students probably know that the Series was carried only on WOW-TV in Omaha for this area. But OU alumnus Joe Baker—who works for KMTV—was the man who arranged for the TV set in the Student Center.

Baker engineered the loan of the set, through the courtesy of the Sidles, Co.

Baker was out of town when a Gateway reporter tried to reach him for comment about the move.

But in the sentiments of one OU professor, "When one firm will help out a competing company for a group of students, it's news of the first calibre."

Voting will take place in lounge from 9 to 3; 55 run for offices

Tomorrow will see the end of OU's first session of mad campaigning for office. The all-school election will be held from 9 am to 3 pm in the student lounge, first floor.

In all, 55 candidates have filed for office. They include

'Nosiest' job at OU belongs to registrar

Registrar Alice Smith, done with her nose-counting chores, has come up with the latest figures on present OU enrollment.

According to her, day school enrollment is 1460; while night school students number 1,386, a difference of only 74. Four hundred and five day school students wear the khaki and blue of the Air ROTC.

Final reports also show a healthy segment of the veteran force on campus. But the greater number, 410, belongs to the School of Adult Education, while the remainder of the 596 veterans listed at OU belongs to the day school division.

Pep revision

To be included in the balloting tomorrow will be a revision in one section of the Inter-Pep Committee by-laws. It is as follows:

Inter Pep Revision

IV—Miscellaneous

Section 3

Provisions for Inter-Pep Committee and Cheerleaders:

4. Officers:

a. The Chairman of the Inter-Pep Committee shall be elected by the members of the Committee and will vote only in case of a tie.

b. A Vice-Chairman shall be elected from the membership of the Committee to serve in the absence of the Chairman.

c. A Secretary-Treasurer shall be elected by the members of the Committee and shall perform the duties customarily assigned to this office.

(c) Cheerleaders shall be appointed by the Inter-Pep Committee by a majority vote, and the head cheerleader shall be named from among the cheerleaders by the Inter-Pep Committee.

The remainder of the provisions are to be the same as stated in the Student Handbook.

The Student Council is sponsoring the all-school election. Results of the Wednesday polling will be released in Friday's Gateway.

Homecoming schedule takes shape as committees arrange festivities

The schedule of events for Omaha University's twenty-third annual Homecoming is rounding into shape with the big days less than two weeks away.

With the Oct. 19 and 20 dates looming close, student planners are arranging the pep rally, dance, room decorating contest motorcade, crowning of the Homecoming Princess and a bevy of other events.

The Princess will be chosen from the five candidates at tomorrow's election and will be crowned at the Friday evening dance at Peony Park. Benny Strong and his orchestra will play.

In anticipation of the Saturday game between the Indians and Kansas State Teachers College, the alums will stage a pre-game "War Whoop" at their Fontenelle Hotel headquarters, plus a victory celebration and dance following the game.

Princess hopefuls excel in all-school activities

Each fall the biggest event of the season is Homecoming. And the big event of each Homecoming is the selection of the new Homecoming Princess.

After potential candidates have survived the test of being selected, they all go out to try and get elected. Here are the five candidates for the 1951 Homecoming Princess with their school records for extra activities.

Nancy Hileman, president of Zeta Tau Alpha, is a music major. Last year the junior class picked her for their Junior Prom Queen. Nancy is also active in the Feathers, Waokiya, the Panhellenic Council, and the OUWI. Since her primary interest in music, she has been active in Kappa Mu Lambda, women's music organization, and has been in the Tom Tom Revue.

Nancy Spring serves as vice-president for Sigma Kappa's, and is past-president of that sorority. She's also past-president of the Feathers and once served as national treasurer for that organization. At present she is secretary of the Panhellenic Council, and was active in the Women's Athletic Association. Nancy holds down a job as clerk in the university book store.

Shirley Welniak, representative from Alpha Xi Delta, served as vice-president for that group. She is past-secretary for the Women's Athletic Association, and was a representative to the national WAA held in Madison, Wisconsin. She is a member of the Future Teachers of America and the Association for the Study of Group Dynamics. She was also a member of the Panhellenic Council.

June Williams is at present serving as Gateway editor and is the candidate backed by the Independent Students Association. She serves as president of Waokiya and vice-president of the Corinthian Society. She was a member of the Student Council for three years and served as secretary for one year. She is also active in the Feathers and is past president of ISA.

Jackie Zerbe is the president of Chi Omega and head of the cheerleading squad. She is also a member of the Student Council, the OUWI, and Orchesis, a national modern dance club. Jackie served as president of her freshman class, and was co-chairman for Vocations Day last year. She is president of the Inter-Pep Council, treasurer of the Panhellenic Council, and a member of the University Players.

Frozen custard gets new name

By Marty Blacker

The enlightenment is here! No longer will students stammer between hunger pangs for sustenance. Now they can forcefully assert themselves on the subject of ice cream.

A "name-the-custard" contest was initiated to relieve this frustration. Miss Carolyn Auten, of Shack and cafeteria fame, has announced that Eugene Roncka submitted the winning name for the new ice cream cone.

TALES OF SHRDLU —by Berk Forsythe

Quite by accident I recently stumbled on a new form of journalism—the Lonely Hearts magazine. Since it concerns lonely women only, I immediately read it from cover to cover.

My first observation is that no sports writer ever used so many yrite phrases so often as did these lonely women. For the younger it's, "Am home-loving young woman looking for home-loving young man in search of home-loving young woman to raise his homely little home-loving children."

For the older set (60 and above), the favorite is "I don't want to go down the western slope of life alone. I want a companion, pal, and life-mate."

At first I thought this would be a good field of journalism for me to take up. I could charge them for the lonely hearts service, and have the pick of the crop at the same time. Then I read the editorial and realized that my artistic ability could never come up to this level. One quotation:

"In conclusion, dear reader, whether you do business with me or not, accept my advice as a friend and marry. When one is old it is well to have a home-loving companion, so that when in the evening of life the light of heaven streams down through the gathering mists of death, you may have a peaceful and joyous entrance into that world of blessedness."

Some of the young ladies were foolish enough to send their pictures with their letters. I was particularly interested in one girl who said she was "considered attractive." Then I looked at her picture. All I have to say is, "I'm grateful that I'm headed down the western slope of life alone."

A recent poem to the editor from an obvious malcontent struck a telling blow at education and at the same time struck "a blow for the frosh." The purpose of the letter was to defend ignorance in general, and to state the author's personal feeling toward entrance exams.

IN DEFENSE OF IGNORANCE
(Note to English professors: the meter of this poetry in no way exemplifies my own ability to write same.)

But the bee soars high upon its wings,

Because it knows not of these things.

Let's hear your voice...

Comes again the time for campaigning and propaganda leaflets—the first of the bi-annual all-school elections.

It needn't be repeated that the election period typifies one of the most important and busy times of the year. This is the chance for the student body to have its say and choose the people it wants in office.

Perhaps in the past the most emphasis has been upon candidates running for office. This year let's change that attitude and place the emphasis upon you—the voter. You are the one who has the responsibility of choosing the people best suited for the job, for they will represent you throughout the year.

Within the past two years the voting turnout has increased notably. The Gateway believes that this shows an increase in student interest as well—not only in the organized groups, but also in the unaffiliated ranks.

Will this be the year for all voting records to be broken? Wednesday gives you the chance to make that decision—and others high-class literary efforts, its only fair to pay tribute to the greatest in literature—the drama.

The following excerpts were taken from a dramatic letter sent to the Gateway staff by former Feature Editors Dick Keim and Dick Clark, now studying for their master's degrees at the University of Texas in Austin.

THE KINGS BEER—A TRAGEDY

(The scene is a musty room in steaming Austin, Tex. Dick Clark, (called "The Lear" because of his face) enters and opens a bottle of beer. A black bug scoots across the floor and "The Lear" mashes it under his opera pumps.)

Lear: Bug! Wherefore dost thou come from?

Bug: (Silence)

(Ed. note: Note particularly the significance of this bug's silence, not to mention the rich, blank verse on the part of Lear.)

Keim: It is hot, Lear.

(Ed. note: The alliteration of "it" and "hot" are masterpieces of true poetic genius, but the finishing touch of the word "Lear" gives the speech that complete, lyric quality so often found in Shakespeare.)

Lear: Hot! I have never seen such weather. We will all perish. God that we were back at Gateway (an obscure castle known for its merriment and poor work.)

(The sound of chains, and a key turning in the door.)

Lear: They are coming for the rent.

(Ed. note: This particular line is fraught with hidden meaning. It not only exemplifies a pleasing shift to the trochaic meter, but it also is a good index of the author's social background. An interesting study was made of it in 1938 by a psychiatrist named Malcontent Wrongthinker.)

Keim and Clark closed their tragedy with a prayer for Dr. Wardle and an appeal for old shoes and clothes.

Washburn rally downs OU team in downpour

Holding a slim 7-6 margin at the half, Omaha gridders could not stave off the mud and a second half Washburn rally at Topeka Friday night. The Ichabods went on to best Omaha in the second half, 16-7.

The game was played in a constant downpour.

OU scores first

The Indians left no doubt in the minds of the Washburn eleven that they meant business, as they drove 62 yards for the first score of the game.

Omaha took advantage of a break early in the game and started their touchdown drive. OU took the kick off and after a series of downs was forced to punt. John Wiren booted and Ernie Lee fell on the ball after it hit a Washburn player.

Then Wiren and John Potts kept the OU drive going with short stabs inside the tackles, sandwiched by a 12-yard Wiren to Aksel Schmidt pass play.

Potts tallies

Potts covered the last two yards for six points. Schmidt, trying his luck for the first time at kicking extra points, booted the soggy pigskin squarely between the uprights.

The Omaha margin was pared shortly as Washburn came right back to cross the Indian goal. Don Stroud was the big gun in the Ichabod drive, as he splashed 46 yards to the Omaha four where he was submerged on Schmidt's diving tackle. Stroud finally scored two plays later and as the extra point attempt was wide, OU had a 7-6 lead.

Washburn went ahead early in the third quarter as George Sader fumbled the second half kick off and Washburn recovered on the Indian 10-yard line.

Washburn surges

Ichabod Clarence Cain sloshed over for the winning touchdown three plays later. Paul Fink added the extra point, and Washburn owned a 13-7 lead.

Fink iced the game for the Ichabods in the last quarter by kicking a 14-yard field goal.

Ineligibility, injuries deplete Indian center post; Johnson anchors line

Lack of depth at the center position has been the main cause for lament so far this season at the Omaha U football camp.

Ineligibility and injuries have almost left the entire load on the capable shoulders of big Larry Johnson, 212-pound giant from Valley, Nebr.

Beatty sprains ankle

The No. 2 pivot, Don Beatty, is a transfer from the end corps and just before the South Dakota game joined the injury list with a sprained ankle.

Lynn Farris who was counted on to see plenty of action, especially on defense, aggravated an old knee injury in drills before the season began and is still having trouble getting his knee into condition.

Hempel ineligible

The biggest disappointment was the ineligibility of rangy Bob Hempel. Hempel was the main choice of the coaching staff to be the number one relief for Johnson.

Ray Beal, another center candidate, is probably the most

Athletic groups rank according to importance

Intramural sports and activities at OU are arranged in point groups in order of importance.

Included in the top division or group one are touch football, "A" basketball, volleyball, softball and bowling. Group two has the "B" basketball league, wrestling and outdoor and indoor track.

Tennis singles and doubles, spring golf tourney, and table tennis singles and doubles are the components of group three.

The last group is made up of boxing, horseshoes, badminton and cross country track.

Soccer-baseball tops OUWI sport program

Greeks, Unaffiliateds, and Independents, will participate in the first OUWI tournament of the year this week when soccer-baseball gets under way. Jane Englehart, chairman, has drawn up the schedule of games. This schedule is posted in the P. E. Hut.

Announcement of the Hemoglobin Hop was given at the OUWI picnic last Wednesday. This party is being given to stimulate interest in community service, and will be held Monday, Dec. 10. Any OUWI member is eligible to attend if she donates either a pint of blood or one hour of her time to the American Red Cross. Everyone interested in attending is requested to hand in their names and their preference as to the type of service they are interested in, to Mel Myers before Nov. 26.

hard luck player on the OU roster. Groomed as a replacement at the pivot, Beal mashed his fingers and cracked his nose within the past two weeks.

Johnson powerhouse

Johnson is beginning his second year of varsity ball with the Indians after spending the most part of his freshman year on the Papooses.

Last season Larry starred on both defensive and - offensive platoons. Many opposing backs found too late the sad truth that Larry is a tower of strength at the linebacker post.

Organization heads meet with Director Gorr

Ernie Gorr, intramural director, announced that there will be a meeting of all organization managers in his office at 3 p. m.

Because Gorr wants to get the 'mural under way immediately, it is urgent that all attend. Weather permitting, the eight-team intramural league is slated to get under way this afternoon.

Red and Black Homecoming opponent bows; home foes Morningside, Northern Ill. cop

Three Omaha University opponents were beaten and two Indian rivals triumphed in football contests over the weekend.

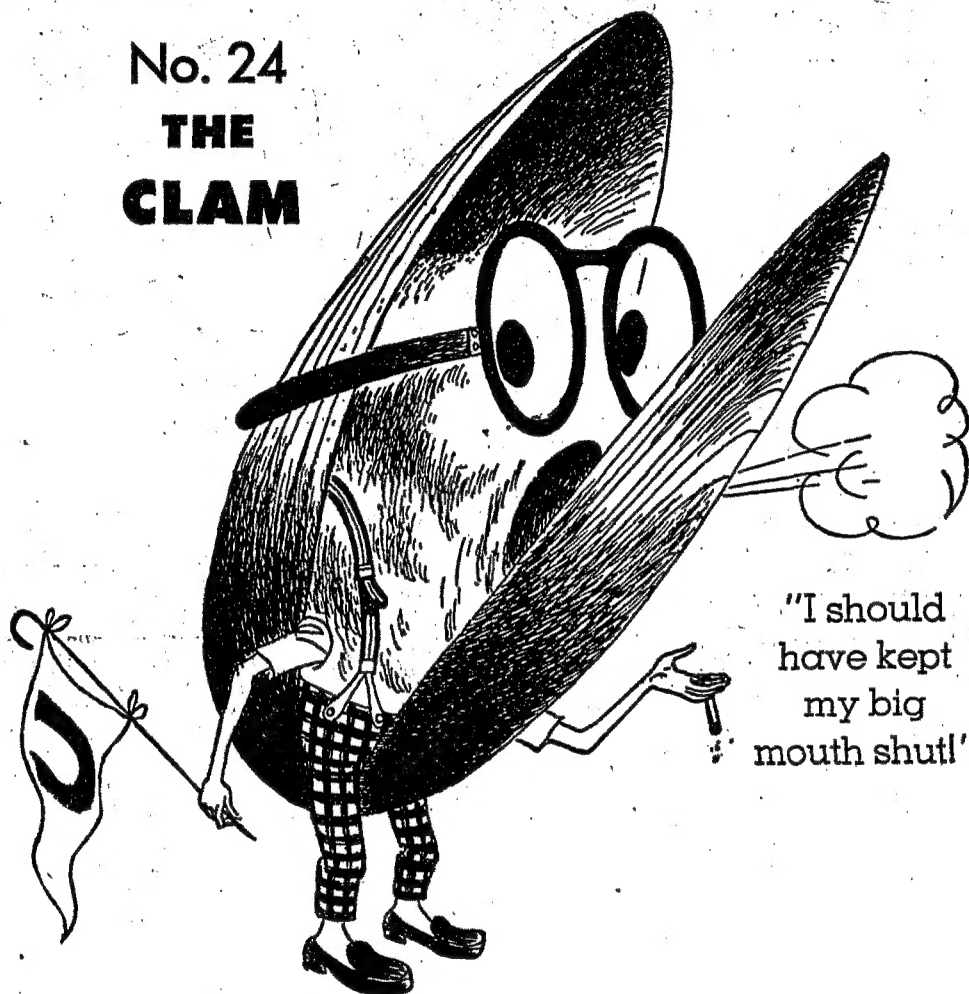

The winners were Northern Illinois State who took a 14-7 decision from Southern Illinois, and Morningside's 18-6 margin over North Dakota State.

Taking it on the chin were OU Homecoming foe, Emporia

(Kans.) State, Wayne U of Detroit, and Simpson College of Indianola, Iowa. The Kansans were soundly trounced at the hands of South Dakota State 34-14 while Wayne absorbed a 50-6 shellacking from Arizona (Tempe) State. Simpson was edged by Iowa Wesleyan 7-2 in a driving rain.

Campus Interviews on Cigarette Tests

CLAM

Fresh out of Bivalve, N. J., he arrived on the campus all bug-eyed and his big mouth hanging open. He was immediately sucked into a "shell game" and found himself making all the quick-trick cigarette tests. But his native instinct told him that such an important item as cigarette mildness couldn't be tossed off lightly. Millions of smokers everywhere have discovered, too, that there's but one true test of mildness.

It's the sensible test...the 30-Day Camel Mildness Test, which simply asks you to try Camels as your steady smoke...on a pack-after-pack basis. No snap judgments! Once you've tried Camels for 30 days in your "T-Zone" (T for Throat, T for Taste), you'll see why...

Benny Strong and Orchestra to play for annual Homecoming Dance at Peony Park

Council books Capitol recorder for all-school social function Oct. 19

Benny Strong and his orchestra, recorders for Capitol Records, will play for OU's annual Homecoming Dance from 9 pm to 1 am Oct. 19. Known as the "Man Who Sings Old Songs," Benny Strong brings with him the vocal trio, the Ladd Sisters. The dance will be held in the Peony Park Ballroom. Howard Olson is dance chairman.

Strong has played at hotels and ballrooms all over the country. Some of these are the Edgewater Beach Hotel, Stevens Hotel, Aragon Ballroom and the Trianon Ballroom in Chicago, the Chase Hotel and the Casa Loma Ballroom in St. Louis, Casino Gardens in Ocean Park, Balinese Room in Galveston; and the Peabody and Claridge Hotels in Memphis. He has also had bookings in Las Vegas, Milwaukee, Dallas, Atlanta, Virginia Beach, Wall Lake and Denver. Last summer he played at Peony Park.

Strong started out in the entertainment field as the "Singing Newsboy" when he was 13-years old. This job was with the publishing house, Waterson, Berlin and Snyder, Irving Berlin's firm.

Paul Ash heard Benny sing "Mary Lou" one night and was so impressed with his voice and personality that he took him to the Oriental Theatre with him as his protage.

When his voice changed to a high baritone Strong became an all-round master of ceremonies. He was emcee for the Publix Theaters and then at the Blackhawk Restaurant in Chicago. Kay Kyser encouraged him to become a band-leader.

His first engagement at the Brown Hotel in Louisville lasted three years. After an evening of singing old songs, his popularity for this style be-

Sunday tea honors

Dr. C. W. Helmstadter, dean of the Applied Arts, was host at the annual Applied Arts tea held at his home Sunday afternoon.

Guests included faculty members of the college and the university administration staff.

Williams to talk to ISA women

ISA women will meet tomorrow in room 309, at 8:00 p.m. June Williams, president of Waokiya, will inform the group of the activities of Waokiya.

A delegation of ISA students will participate in Migration Day to Doane Friday.

The Independent "get-acquainted" picnic was held Saturday night at Benson Park Pavilion. A weiner roast, games, and dancing highlighted the evening. Special guests were faculty sponsors.

Debaters plan talks by Allen, Westrate

Pi Kappa Delta, debate society, will meet Thursday in room 100. The 7:30 p.m. meeting will feature talks by Phillip Allen, instructor of speech at OU and a member of the staff of KOIL, and Capt. Lee Westrate, former government instructor at OU.

Inflation and wage and price control will be the topics for their lectures. Refreshments will be served at the meeting which is open to anyone interested in debate.

BENNY STRONG

came so great he decided to make a career of it. He revived and recorded many old-time favorites, among them "Stumbling," "Baby Face," "Sweet Georgia Brown" and "Mary Lou".

An apt description of Benny Strong's music on records appeared recently in the Los Angeles Daily News. "When you listen to Benny Strong you can leave the ketchup bottle on the shelf. You will have no need of condiments."

Strong disbanded his orchestra before he entered the armed forces. After his discharge almost all of the former members of his band—who were widely scattered—came back to rejoin him.

Wardle tells about stage

Dr. Ralph M. Wardle spoke on the "Elizabethan Theater" and "Stage and its Transition" at the meeting of the University Players last Wednesday afternoon. About 100 members attended the first regular meeting.

Bob Hansen, president, announced that Bob Sewell, technician for the Community Playhouse, will speak at the next meeting to be held on Oct. 17. His topic will be, "Theater Transition to the Modern Day." At that meeting committees will be chosen for the first play production.

Members elected Barbara Haugness as historian. Committees for the pledge party to be held in late October were chosen. Seventy students were pledged to the University Players.

Scholars group elects Erdkamp

Joyce Erdkamp was elected secretary of Alpha Lambda Delta at the meeting Thursday in room 350. She replaces Sally Penny, who transferred from OU.

Pledging and activation dates were set for Oct. 25 and Nov. 2 respectively. Laura Dopeta, Carol Wetzel, Sue Yeter, Doris Burnet, and Joan Thorson will be pledged.

Nov. 15 is the date for the Smarty Party, a get acquainted party for new students.

Pre-Med Club plans schedule, elects officers

OU's Pre-Med Club met last Wednesday night to elect officers for the coming year. Those elected were: Robert Kundel, president; Harold Oberman, vice president; and Doris Akerstrom, secretary-treasurer. Former president Kay Srb presided at the meeting.

A list of pre-med students accepted for Nebraska Medical School in September, 1952, was presented. The students are: Robert Bass, Marilyn Cowger, Sam Kais, Bob Kundel, John Mosely, and Harold Oberman.

The club plans a full schedule of activities for this year including their annual banquet. All dates of meetings are posted in chemistry able and will be announced in the classrooms.

Delta Sigs plan regional convention schedule initiation for Monday

Delta Sigma Pi, business fraternity, held its second business meeting Wednesday in the Student Center. Plans for the Delta Sig regional convention, which is to be held in Omaha

Fellowship chooses officers at meeting

Election highlighted the Christian weekly meeting last Thursday. Don Hansen heads the group with Bob Kundel vice president and Virginia Layher secretary-treasurer. Miss Leta Holley and Harry L. Rice are the advisers. A short Bible discussion followed the election.

Christian Fellowship was founded on Campus about five years ago to promote better understanding and fellowship among the students.

Men's late fraternity rushing changed; Greeks discuss Homecoming activities

Men's late fraternity rushing has been changed again. Men will register from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Friday. The $2 fee will be paid at this time. Preference cards will be signed in the Dean of Students' office on Oct. 17 from 8 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Alpha Xi . . .

Homecoming plans, the social calendar, and academic scholarship highlighted the Alpha Xi Delta meeting last Wednesday evening.

Georgeanna Walton and Joyce Erdkamp were appointed publicity chairmen for all activities.

Activation ceremonies were held Sunday, Sept. 30, at the American Legion Club. Three pledges and two alumnae were activated. Joan Miller, Nancy Peniston and Joan Godsey were the students activated. The alumnae were Mrs. Thyra Herzog and Mrs. Fonita S. Robinson.

Chi Omega . . .

Mrs. Winnie Bowker, national Chi Omega representative from Nebraska, spoke to the Zeta Delta chapter last Wednesday evening. The meeting was held at the Rome Hotel.

Pinfeathers to organize for season; sisters plan convention, migration

All freshmen women are invited to attend a meeting of Pinfeathers this afternoon at 2 p.m. The meeting in the Physical Education Hut will be to organize the group for the rest of the football season.

Music group pledges two

Kappa Lambda Mu, honorary music sorority, held initiation for two students Sunday at the Athletic Club. Initiates honored at the 7 p.m. dinner were Ruth Ann Seig and Joanne Pierce.

Each pledge received a pin fashioned like a musical eight note during the candlelight ceremony.

Officers for this year are Barbara Comstock, president; Nancy Hileman, vice president; Arlene Madsen, secretary; Bonnie Wilson, treasurer; and Shirley Hawkins, historian. Miss Alice Weisskopf is sponsor of Kappa Lambda Mu.

next spring, were discussed. Bob Costello, headmaster, announced that an initiation will be held Nov. 4.

OU's Gamma Eta chapter was a winner of last year's national efficiency contest. Bernie Shires, last year's headmaster, was awarded a life membership in the fraternity.

Members were informed of the forthcoming directory of graduating seniors. This manual is put out by the national fraternity and its purpose is for presentation as a reference to future employers.

Several of the alumni members were present at the annual smoker which was held in the Student Center Monday evening. They were Bernie Shires, Cliff Giropeny, and Norman Paasch, now with the Air Force.

Gloria Johnson and Joanne Larkin, co-chairmen for Homecoming, announced the committees. Publicity for Chi O's Princess candidate, Jackie Zerbe, was also planned.

Alpha Pi Omicron . . .

Three men have been accepted by Alpha Pi Omicron, national scouting fraternity, as pledges. They are John Weaver, Ken Rumery, John Courtright, Ron Case, Lydell Kiplin and Ted Westman.

At the 6 p.m. meeting Thursday, in the faculty clubroom, APO announced Don Chase as chairman of the November blood drive.

Zeta Tau Alpha . . .

Zeta Tau Alpha discussed Homecoming plans at their meeting last Thursday evening. Joan Farris, chairman of the decorations, announced that committees would be meeting regularly and that plans are progressing smoothly.

Jean Salladay was named chairman for the Zeta's annual Christmas Dance. Committees for the dance were selected.

Established last year, Pinfeathers is a freshman organization for Feathers, women's pep group.

Miss Vera Duerschner, physical education instructor, is sponsor of Pinfeathers. Jane Hoff and Joyce Erdkamp are student advisors.

The group will have new uniforms this year. Red skirts and white blouses will be topped by white OU cardigans.

Feathers plan . . .

Feathers made plans to attend the national Phi Sigma Chi convention which will be held Friday, Saturday and Sunday at the University of Nebraska. They plan to attend the migration to Doane Friday evening.

The pep organization elected Dorothy Ruby vice president and publicity chairman at their meeting last Monday.

The Feathers rush tea was held last Wednesday in the faculty clubroom. Punch, cookies and brownies were served. Rushees were selected by the members after the tea. Tapping letters will be out tomorrow.

Plans for the pledging ceremony and pot luck supper in Elmwood Park are being organized by Nancy Hileman and Elaine Bralley, co-chairmen.

Orchesis tryout ends tonight at 7

Elimination tryouts for Orchesis will be held tonight at 7 p.m. in the Women's Physical Education Hut. Mrs. Irma Wilcox, sponsor, and members will judge.

At the first meeting last week dance techniques were taught to the 20 girls who attended.

Mrs. Wilcox stated that there is still time for girls to try out if they are interested in membership. Techniques will be reviewed before the individual performances.

Members of Theta Phi Delta met in the cafeteria for a dinner meeting Tuesday evening. Members paired off as co-chairmen for the monthly parties to be given during the year for Theta members.

The informal Theta parties will range from picnics to house parties. Stag events are also being planned.

Homecoming room decorations were discussed.

Bill Ryan, vice president, was appointed election chairman and assistant pledgemaster. Dewey Crouch is the new songleader, replacing Tom Slack, now with the armed services.

Theta Phi Delta . . .

Theta Chi held its regular meeting Thursday evening. Late rushing, Homecoming activities, and the social calendar were topics for discussion.

Don West was appointed social chairman, and Ed Berney was chosen Homecoming display chairman. Members of Berney's committee include Gil McDonald and Sam Marrasco.

The group chose Paul Beck and Eugene Hampton as faculty advisors. Hampton is a former active of the Delta Zeta chapter.
